

Cloth-fold'ing Ma-chine'. One in which wide goods are folded lengthwise, ironed and pressed ready for baling. In the example the cloth is passed over the bulging, spreading roller n, which is adjustable, and between the folders, which consist of a plate bent into a sinuous form like a flattened S. From the folders the cloth passes beneath the inclined steam-heated ironer D, and from that to the rollers F F, by which it is drawn forward.

Fig. 1343

Cloth-Folding Machine.