

Sheep-shear'ing Ta'ble. A holder or bench to hold a sheep while being sheared.

Fig. 4943 has a canvas bed supported on a double X-frame, and of sufficient capacity to hold the sheep.

Fig. 4943.

Sheep-Shearing Table.

In using Fig. 4944, the sheep being laid on the table, the cords attached to the rotating wheel fasten the hind legs. The curved spring hook holds its neck, and the cord and snap secure the front legs to the eye-bolts on the table.

Fig. 4944.

Sheep-Shearing Table.

In Fig. 4945, the sheep is strapped in a trough, which is so pivoted as to give any presentation to the shearer, and to dump the animal when the operation is concluded.