Logitech has 20+ undergraduate/graduate student paid full time summer internship opportunities in Newark, California in the San Francisco Bay Area.

The internships opportunities are for a variety of teams, a variety of projects, and a variety of different majors. The internships are open to international students whose visas allow them to work during education. Internships are only available to those who are currently enrolled full time in school or graduated in the last 12 months; part time students are not applicable. Candidates can apply to multiple internship postings where skill sets and interest align.
